Message

Dear Noble Souls!
Today, people have advanced greatly in science & technology, achieving remarkable material progress. However, despite these advancements, we see increasing restlessness in minds, immorality in lives, inhumanity in society, and disunity among communities and nations. As a result, many individuals are turning ignoble, harming others and even leading themselves towards destruction. This is the greatest tragedy of our time!

We are capable of producing highly skilled professionals through 'modern education', but we are failing to shape them into 'Noble individuals'. The primary reason for this failure is our neglect of 'moral and scriptural education', which is essential for building 'noble character'.

A human being is not just a 'physical' entity but also a 'moral' one. Therefore, the integration of modern education with 'moral' and 'scriptural teachings' is necessary to develop 'noble professionals'. This will cultivate inner 'peace' in individuals, 'righteousness' in character, 'humanity' in society, and unity among diverse communities and nations. Only through this balance of material and spiritual growth can a person's life become truly perfect and peaceful.

By embracing this vision, we can easily reform all the disturbed aspects of human life and swiftly build an ideal society. With this purpose, Sajjan Samaj, a social reform organization, was established to create a world inhabited by virtuous individuals.

The Fundamental Process of Cultivating Noble Individuals

According to psychology, every human action is driven by some form of motivation. It is a well-known fact that without motivation, people do not take any action. There are two naturally occurring motivational forces within individuals:

1. Moral Conscience- Those who act with this motivation, are the most noble ones.

2. Hope and Fear - Those who act based on rewards or consequences, are the noble ones.

Those who do not derive motivation from either of the forces are the lowest ones.

In order to reform every human being and make the call for reconciliation global, we have selected Noble Values as the pivotal point and plan to facilitate their motivation towards it by:

- Awakening the inner moral conscience in people.
- Creating awareness about constitutional duties and responsibilities as citizens.
- Educating individual about ethical teachings from their respective religious scriptures.

This structured approach is the fastest way to shape individuals into noble human beings.

Therefore, the Sajjan Samaj comprises all denominations of Rationalists, Atheists, Agnostics, and other non-religious Nobles, as well as Nobles from all denominations of the Hindu, Buddhist, Jain, Muslim, Christian, Jew, Sikh, and other religious communities, including Nobles from ex-religious communities.

Sajjan Samaj – Thoughts and Acts

- World peace is possible only under the leadership of Nobles: Thus...
  - According to the wisdom that man is born with, everyone's conscience declares that those rendering selfless service to society should be honored and all anti-social elements and criminals should be punished if they refuse to reform.
  - According to the Constitution and the law that governs any nation; awards should be given to the Most Noble citizens, and prison penalizing is mandatory for criminals.
  - According to all Scriptures of Dharma/Spiritual Way of life, Paradise is the reward for the good deeds of the virtuous, and Hell is the punishment for the evil deeds of the wicked.

  With these three motivations, the evolution of Nobles is possible.

- Every human being is under the surveillance of The Supreme Being 'ParamSatta': that Supreme Being is the One proposed by all the Dharma Shastras / Scriptures. Man is accountable to that Supreme Power for each of his good and evil actions. This truth preached by all the Dharma Shastras is a strong motivation to make every spiritual person Noble/Sajjan.

- Rishis and Prophets are role models for everyone: The lives of all religious greats are ideal. Their virtues of morality, humanity, unity, love, selflessness, etc. are excellent examples for a Sajjan's life.

- True self-respect and equality for all human beings can only be achieved through the spirit of Oneness (EkAtmaBhav): All of humanity originates from a single soul, bound by an unbreakable Blood Relation. When we embrace this truth, the discrimination of race, color, and culture —whether between East and West or black and white—begins to fade. In its place, friendship flourishes, and a world of mutual acceptance, respect, dignity, and harmony emerges. Let us recognize our shared essence and build a future where unity defines our existence.

- True human development is possible only through a scientific temperament: Progress can only be achieved when we rise above superstitions and outdated, unscientific traditions, embracing logic, reason, and scientific thinking. By fostering curiosity, questioning the unknown, and adopting rational practices, we can build a future driven by knowledge, innovation, and enlightenment.

- The preservation of humanity is only possible through the protection of our environment: Safeguarding nature is essential for our peaceful and sustainable existence in this world because the environment is the very foundation of human survival. Every individual has a responsibility to cherish and protect the natural world around them. As part of this duty, we must also safeguard the countless living organisms that share this planet with us, ensuring the preservation of biodiversity for generations to come.

- Being generous to society is a fundamental responsibility of each member of that society: We must cultivate a deep sense of gratitude toward the community that shapes us because, no matter how much we grow or succeed, it is always the result of collective support and cooperation. Our family, relatives, and those in need have a rightful share in our wealth and happiness. Recognizing this truth, we should extend our kindness and assistance to the less fortunate, giving as much as we can to uplift those who need it most even if we remain half hungry. True fulfillment lies not just in personal success but in sharing our blessings with others.

- Communities and Nations should be internally strong and externally harmonious: Moreover, this unity must always align with both national and global interests, fostering mutual respect and cooperation. When we come together with a shared vision of harmony and inclusivity, we pave the way for lasting world peace. True strength lies not in division, but in standing united for the greater good of humanity.
